Rotary Club
Pays Visit
To Mullins

Sees Wash Tubs, Refrigerator Units, Auto Fenders Made

The lunging of giant presses, fashioning miraculous shapes from pieces of shiny sheets of metal; the quick, orderly movements of operators and workmen, doing the right thing at the right time, precise as the soldier on drill; fingers of flame darting from the welders' tools; long lines of conveyors, floating almost phantom-like among groups of workers, about the ceilings and in and out of ovens, disappearing in some unexpected corner; the incessant pounding and beating of hammers, like a battalion of machine guns—here, sketched briefly, is the symphony of production, the music of industrial achievement that thrilled Salem Rotarians on their inspection tour of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. plants Tuesday afternoon.

20,000 Refrigerator Units.

Accompanied by J. P. Price, Andrew McLeod and Cletus Paumier, of the Mullins Corp., the Rotarians visited the plant where the Mullins Corp. is turning out approximately 20,000 refrigerating units monthly, and then the main plant on South Broadway, where automobile stampings, wash tubs and other incidental products are made.

In each case a picture of cleanliness and efficiency, as well as highly developed man and machine power was presented.

The Salem plant is now producing approximately 45,000 refrigerating units of its own and enameled in the neighborhood of 25,000 to 30,000 units for outside sources.

The small units are handled almost exclusively on conveyors during the various operations incident to their origin and perfection.

The plant tourists were highly interested in the operations of the mammoth presses in which were being turned out automobile fenders.

A sheet of metal is placed over the lower section of the giant die. The upper section of the machine plunges into it like a big flat punching down a sheet of tissue paper, and out comes a perfectly produced auto fender.

THREE KIDNAP
ATTEMPTS MADE
AT CORD HOMEAmerican Millionaire and Family Flee To EnglandABDUCTION PLOTS ARE DESCRIBEDAirplane Used In One In-

Reveals

LONDON, May 31.—Three attempts to kidnap members of his family from his home at Beverley Hills, Calif., have been graphically described by P. L. Cord, American automobile and airplane magnate, to English acquaintances.

One of the attempts, involving the use of a mysterious airplane, was said to have resulted in the advice of a California police chief to the American millionaire to take his family out of the United States for an extended visit abroad.

In England Since April.

It was learned definitely today that Cord has been in England since the middle of April, a date corresponding to the sensational kidnapping cases of William P. Gertie, in California, and June Robles, in Arizona.

Cord has taken a home in Surrey for the summer and it was said he does not intend to return to the United States until the kidnapping panic has died down.

On one occasion, according to an informant in whom Cord confided, an airplane flew over the Cord estate in California getting the lay of the land and, possibly, taking pictures.

The plane was said to have been traced to a secret landing place across the border in Mexico.

Later a guard at the Cord home was said suddenly to have been surprised by an unidentified man who shoved a revolver into his ribs.

The guard, however, was saved by a companion hidden in the shrubbery who fired at the assailant, supposed to have been a would-be kidnaper.

A third attempt was believed to have been made when a man was found lurking on the estate.

Without Guard.

Despite the strong guard which the Cords may have had in the United States, the family is under no protection here.

The motor magnate and his son have been driving around London and the vicinity in a small car. The second son, William, has been riding around by himself on a motor cycle.

The millionaire's airplane is still at Heston airport, but its owner did not appear there today for a further tuning up of the motor.

Rural Scout Troop

Will Take In Fair

LISBON, May 31.—Boy Scout Troop No. 14, of St. Joseph's Reformed church, two miles north of here, in Salem township, has been chosen as one of two troops composed solely of rural boys to attend the state fair this year as guests of the state department of agriculture. Another troop has been selected from the Cincinnati district.

Troop 14 is in charge of Scoutmaster Charles Moreland, assisted by Arthur Haddock. There are very few troops in the state composed entirely of boys from the rural districts, and according to Scout Executive Charles E. Pelton, the troop sponsored by St. Joseph's church is one of the outstanding organizations of the character in Ohio.

Captain Raymond De Fries, the pilot, and Robert L. Hunter, mechanic, were killed.

Hopes For Peace

COLUMBUS, O., May 31.—Despite a strike call issued for the textile industry and threatened walkout of steel workers June 16, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said last night he was hopeful the strikes could be averted.

"I refuse," he declared, "to believe the strikes will take place until the last effort has been made to avert them."

the V. P. W. post was named, was present.

Capt. Percy Telson of Salem's own Company D during the World War was present at the ceremonies and made a short talk.

The decoration of graves, a salute by the V. P. W. firing squad and "taps" completed the program.

William Horne, one of Salem's two surviving Civil War veterans, also was present.

Charles Bonnell, Salem's other Civil War vet, was unable to attend the morning service but was present at the afternoon event.

The afternoon parade was led by the Salem High school band directed by Chester Broadbent, Lebanon's American Legion drum corps, which includes seven members of Charles H. Carey post No. 36 of Salem, also participated in the afternoon parade.

Canadian Quintuplets Pose For the First Time With Their Mother

Five baby girls, born to Mrs. Olivia Dionne, 26-year-old wife of a French-Canadian farmer, pose for their first picture with their mother in a farm shack near the village of Cober, in northern Ontario, Canada, where they were born. The quintuplets together weighed only 13 pounds 6 ounces at birth. The Dionnes have five other children, the eldest being seven years old.

AID IS RUSHED TO QUINTUPLETSWorld Speeds Help To

Humble Home

(By Associated Press)

CORBELL, Ont., May 31.—While aid was hurried from the outside world, a country doctor continued an unceasing fight today for the lives of five tiny patients—quintuplets born in a humble farm home.

Now three days old, the infant girls were gaining strength—but the heaviest weighed only three pounds, four ounces at birth. Quintuplets are rare in medical annals and it is even rarer for all to survive.

Every possible aid was being sent Dr. A. R. Decker for use in the case. An old-fashioned incubator arrived last night from a Chicago newspaper. There is no electricity in the home for a modern incubator.

Premier George S. Henry of Ontario instructed the public welfare department to provide all necessary care for Mrs. Olivia Dionne, the 24-year-old mother, and her babies, who have five other brothers and sisters.

The babies have been baptized by the parish priest and named—Cecile, Yvonne, Marie, Emily and Annette. They wear tags, so they can be told apart.

An eye dropper is used to feed them milk, corn syrup and water. The procedure takes so long that by the time the fifth has been fed the first is hungry again.

En route home, the band is scheduled to stop at Chicago Sunday afternoon and is billed for a one-hour concert, from 3 to 4 p. m., at the world fair now in progress there.

THE WEIRTON CASE

The federal government's failure to get an injunction restraining the Weirton Steel Co. from participating in the election of bargaining representatives by its employees is not a vital blow to the national industrial recovery act. General Johnson, administrator of the act, anticipated failure. Labor provisions in the steel code have been viewed skeptically by those responsible for enforcing them.

While it is entirely natural that a federal court's refusal to grant an injunction in a case of this kind should be explored for its larger significance, the recovery act, there is little in the decision that is called directly significant. Judge John P. Norris refused to grant the injunction, ruled that the Norris anti-injunction act applies to the case and that his court is without power to issue an injunction in a labor dispute without testimony from witnesses in open court. The connection with the recovery act is remote.

If a point of direct bearing on the recovery act must be found it exists in the fact that the new deal's enforcement under existing law is not an easy matter. In the Weirton case an employer was charged with coercion and intimidation against employees exercising their right to elect representatives for the purpose of collective bargaining. Yet, according to Judge Norris' interpretation of existing law the government is powerless to obtain from its courts an injunction restraining such actions without following the same procedure available to private plaintiffs. Private rights are not made secondary to governmental rights. Law cannot be used as a tool against individual defendants.

Without an independent judiciary embarrasments of this kind never could happen to a government attempting an experiment, some parts of which are questionable in law. On the issues entailed in the Weirton case the general public is poorly qualified to give judgment. It is obligated, however, in the interest of free government, to be grateful for a convincing demonstration that the law is not yet as pliant under the new deal as lawmakers seem to have become.

BALANCE

Congress, unless plans go awry, will adjourn within three weeks and adjournment will mark the end of one of history's most important parliamentary groups. Indicative of the spirit of the period, however, is the probability that the new congress, which will convene in January, may be even more important.

The dying congress threw up a legislative structure to deal with an emergency. The congress to be born this year must determine what is to be done with the structure. Built to do certain things for specified periods, it will be subject to drastic alterations to meet new conditions in a different period.

The legislative trend thus far has been toward a planned economy, with extraordinary responsibilities for planning committed to the President. In another year, the NRA, the AAA and all that they mean will terminate automatically unless they are renewed by legislative action. The new congress will determine the future structure of American government.

Although more than the matter of political affiliation is entailed in determining the attitude of the new congress, at present it is easiest to speculate on the future in terms of party divisions. Generally speaking, it may be assumed that Democratic congressmen will continue to follow President Roosevelt and that Republican congressmen will comprise the only effective check on his policies.

A strong congressional minority to represent the minority that unquestionably exists in the country is desirable. Momentous questions will be placed before the new congress. No one who tries to follow the movement of public opinion doubts that there is considerable disagreement on the answers to the questions. The Literary Digest poll, for instance, shows far less support for the administration's program than it would have to command to justify its unchallenged continuance.

Speakersmen for the Republican party see no possibility of dissolving the present Democratic majority in the senate and house. They do see, however, a good possibility of gaining an effective minority to speak for the popular minority that is skeptical of the planned economy started by the Roosevelt administration. Establishment of such a minority would be an effective guarantee against domination of the legislative branch by new dealers.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, June 1

The planetary configurations bearing rule on this day are mainly of an adverse or malefic nature, although it will be a very lively and exciting state of affairs both private and business. In the latter there may be some substantial gain in real possessions or in rewards for industry and hard work. A spirit of enterprise and high tension prevail. In personal associations also, in which particular discretion is called for. Be careful in employment.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active and strenuous year, but one not notable for high results, excepting in the matter of hard work with its rewards and accumulations. Sudden change and reversals are possible and employment may develop inharmonies and enures. In private associations discretion is advised lest regrettable turns arise. Journeys are prosaged.

A child born on this day should be versatile and talented in business and probably the arts, but it may be restless and temperamental, and not fortunate in love.

Notable nativity: John Drinkwater, author.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

SAN DIEGO, May 31.—I wondered, motoring into this thoroughly sun-kissed Eden, dreaming so beautifully through long golden days, if it appreciated the exploitation in Max Miller's "I Cover the Water Front," locale of his yarns. In Paris there would be a Place Max Miller. San Diego has little metropolitan garnish.

Rather a look of fierce residential respectability softened by the most even climate in America. One is engulfed immediately in a freely imparted sense of soothing quiet. It is a lowered reality of mid-Victorian dreams to which I hope Fate billets me, comes time to cover my typewriter. At last a few months each year.

Every street is awash with sunlight and every lawn a blaze of flowers. Humanity is not scurrying like frightened ants. People have an honest languor that comes only with content. When there is work to do, they do it without fuss. Each day has individual tranquility, spiritual stimulation.

The high state of civic consciousness is expressed in the beauty of its parks, pin-neat highways and suddenly glimpsed vistas greeting every turn. In the noon-day shimmer it seems a great opaque bubble that might burst with the evening clang of church bells.

San Diego is not its economic best with the fleet away. But it is too highly geared to suffer collapse at this evacuation. It is merely not as lively, especially at night, as when sailors are ashore. We passed the flying field from which Lindy took off for his immortal flight. The wide dome of clear azure is always dotted with planes, the air filled with the engines' far away shuckshuck.

Press of time prevented calling on a friend of mine and my father's, C. Fred Henking, who always renews my faith in the miracles. As a garbaged boy I recall the town gathering to see him off for what was then a trip few had taken—to California. He waved wanly from a pilloved chair on the back platform as the local rounded Fox's dairy. No one expected to see him again. But in middle 70's he's in such perfect health that, like Sir Oliver Lodge, he dances in the evening with grand-children.

Agua Caliente, in old Mexico, is now directed by Joe Schenck, ex-husband of Norma Talmadge. A flashy cul-de-sac surrounded by a fierce black scowl of bald and barbaric hills. We lunched in the light-drenched patio of the gambling casino where a Mexican senorita, a sort of Sophie Tucker version of Gus Edwards' Armita, arriving on a donkey, fandangood to castanets and music of a string orchestra. The casino is busiest week ends when the movie crowds fly over the border to make merry. Plenty of the gougey well-barbered New York gamblers about, along with tourists one sees at Belmont. Havre de Grace or wherever horses run. The inevitable gleaners among wastrels, picking up crumbs.

Scotch inhibitions stiffen at any sort of gambling. But when in Rome— Anyway I toyed with a $10 stack at the small stake table for pikers, watching it fritter away and feeling the customary dunce. Chasing false rainbows is not my metier. For a day or so afterward I am sized by a penurious pout. Ten dollars would buy a couple of dandy ash-gray shirts. I like to acquire shirts instead of losing them.

Old Tia Juana has shaved its prices and, due likely to the yokunok, is getting the big play. Its open-front saloons, cheap gambling holes and honky-tonks are going great guns. Vice has the old Barbary Coast open-handedness. One steps to the bar for a fiery vino and a sinuous senorita is tugging at an elbow sleeve with suggestions for caper. Back of the main street are crib-like hovels, leprous spots on the terraced templadas. The ladies of Tia Juana are neither young in years nor wickedness. They are the same wild creatures who trail the bandit armies, hardbitten trowies with morals of the minx.

We intended to bivouac at beautiful Coronado Beach for the night and be lulled to slumber by the surf's gentle pounding. But the moonlight was superb for motoring and a toss of the coin sent us on. Until one has seen clumps of bougainvillea spangling the green wimpled valleys in a sheen of moonbeams one has missed Nature's most exquisite stagecraft. So until 3 a. m., with space as a living presence, I built my fanciful hacienda, half hidden in myriads of nodding purple flowers. Dotting upon a future dotage, as it were. So tranquil indeed that once or twice I almost forgave the son of a mulcteer who gyped me out of my ten bucks across the gaming tables. Almost, but not quite.

Meningitis a Contagious Disease

For many years little of value was known about meningitis. It was a dreaded disease and little hope could be offered the victim.

It was believed to be incurable and the few cases that survived the infection were looked upon as having been miraculously cured.

I am glad to say that medical science is now able to combat and cure this serious infection, providing the disease is recognized in its early stages.

Meningitis, as its name implies, is an inflammation of the covering membranes of the brain, or spinal cord. This inflammation is caused by a germ. Contrary to a former conception, it is not caused by one kind of germ, but one of several germs may cause the inflammation. For example, it may be the result of the "pneumococcus" the germ of pneumonia. Or it may come from the typhoid fever germ, or the germ of the common cold or gripe. Still other germs may cause the "meningococcus."

Cerebro Spinal Fever

The disease is often confused with cerebrospinal fever. The latter is a serious and often fatal disease. It is only caused by infection with one germ. This germ is called the meningococcus.

Meningitis is a highly contagious disease, easily spread from one person to another. The germ enters the body through an abrasion in the mucous membrane of the nose or throat. From there, it reaches the blood stream and is carried to the covering of the brain or spinal cord where it produces a marked inflammation.

Cerebrospinal fever is far more dangerous and serious than meningitis. The danger of getting it is increased by the so-called "carriers." These are persons who harbor the germs of this disease but who in all probability are unaware of the menace they are to others.

They are a constant source of danger to the health of a community. Fortunately, rigid health regulations and state laws require periodic examination of all persons suspected of harboring the meningococcus. Carriers of this disease must be isolated and prevented from spreading the infection to others.

Symptoms of Meningitis

The victim of meningitis complains of severe headache and high fever. Nausea, vomiting, delirium and marked nervous symptoms, are other signs that must not be overlooked. The disease may easily be confused with other brain disorders, but the diagnosis is confirmed by tapping the spinal canal and examining the fluid. This fluid is subjected to special tests.

Many persons fear a spinal tap and often refuse permission for this valuable aid in diagnosis. I believe this hesitancy is due to a misconception and unwarranted fear of the test. Let me assure you, it is a harmless procedure. In many instances immediate relief from headache and other disturbing complaints is experienced by the sufferer after a spinal tap. It relieves increased pressure on the brain and aids in combatting the infection.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

DECORATION DAY was one of greater sunshine throughout the greater part of the country. Roads and highways everywhere were crowded, every restless American going from some place to some other place. Not many take old Voltaire's advice: Cultivate no gardens. "Let us cultivate our gardens."
For another year the dead will rest in their graves as the flowers with, waiting for next Decoration day. By the millions they are forgotten, until the day comes around again. There are faithful hearts that never forget. On Decoration day, and on the 364 other days of the year, their thoughts are close to some grave.

A GENERAL STRIKE is threatened in Toledo; sixty-eight unions have voted for it. It is suggested by representatives of the electrical workers that it may be necessary "to put a large part of Ohio in darkness, cutting off the light."
Mr. Myers, representing the electrical workers, is good enough to say that hospitals will be supplied with current for lighting and refrigeration, and that city water plants will be kept in operation after his men go out. When he was asked what would happen if electrical companies tried to supply the city with light by bringing power from other cities, he replied:
"Well, when you have a strike,
you have war."

INTELLIGENT LABOR leaders realize the truth of that important statement. When you have a strike that shuts off light from the homes of people, as a preliminary, one that might shut off their water supply later, you have a real WAR.
And it is not war against a mere group of employers. It is war against the public, against all the people.

Intelligent labor will understand that a war of that kind, CIVIL war must necessarily result disastrously for those that would undertake to shut off people's necessities. Workmen should not be underpaid by big corporations, or private employers.
The right to strike and demand better conditions is undoubted, unless the strike becomes war against the people, and their safety.

In that case the people will interfere, because they must.

A GREAT FUNERAL is preparing in Japan for the national hero
Admiral Marquis Heihachiro Togo Japan will give him a funeral never to be forgotten, he will be made a saint, according to the beliefs of the Shinto faith. As long as Japan exists, he will be remembered and honored as the first Japanese commander that ever defeated a great western power, in this case, Russia.

Togo's great victory, sinking the two Russian fleets, will be celebrated every year in Japan, as it has been yearly for the last twenty-nine years. It is to be hoped for the sake of world peace and the welfare of Japan, that the Japanese will realize that Stalin's Russia is not the Russia of the feeble czar.
The Russia that the Allies could not conquer, when the Soviet government had barely started. Japan could not conquer today. Japan's high command should remember the warning of the German military expert that "penetrating Russia is like penetrating a feather bed—the deeper you go, the more you smother."

Fire Insurance
Agents Will Meet

LISBON, May 31.—A general meeting of all fire insurance agents and representatives of agencies in this county will be held tonight in common pleas court room, for the purpose of forming a county association. A representative of the State Association of Fire Insurance Agents will speak.

Trosky's Three Homers Give Tribe Even Break With Chicago

INDIANS BOW IN OPENER, 8-7, BUT COP SECOND, 5-4

Whitehill Holds Yankees To One Hit As Senators Break Even

PIRATES DROP TWO TO CHICAGO CUBS

Cardinals Win Both Ends of Twin Bill; Retain National Lead

Three home runs by Hal Trosky enabled the Cleveland Indians to split even with the Chicago White Sox before a Memorial day holiday crowd of 27,000 Wednesday.

And, besides accounting for the tribe's 5 to 4 victory over the Pale Hose in the nightcap of yesterday's twin bill, the rookie first sacker's trio of circuit swallops also enabled Clevelanders to retain their place at the head of American League standings.

Trosky's hitting feats were big features of the holiday baseball program, witnessed by some 238,000 fans in eight major league parks. The tribe bowed in the first game, 8 to 7, in a 12-inning battle despite two homers by Sammy Hale.

Whitehill Beats Yankees
At New York Earl Whitehill held the Yankees hitless for 8 1-3 innings, then was removed after giving the one New York hit in Washington's 1-0 triumph. The Yankees evened the count and remained close behind Cleveland's league leaders by taking the second game 5 to 4 in 11 innings.

Detroit's third place Tigers were the only American League team to win two games, beating the St. Louis Browns, 7-6 and 5-4, and they had to go 10 innings to capture the second game when Marvin Owen drove in the winning tally with a single.

Philadelphia and Boston split a morning and afternoon program. The A's took a 5 to 3 decision in an early encounter marked by the first appearance of Boston's brother, first batter of Perrell and the Red Sox came back with a 2 to 1 triumph behind Dady Rhodes' five hit lining.

Cubs Beat Reds Twice

Three of the four teams involved in the National League battle swept twin bills while the fourth, Pittsburgh, lost twice and skidded down to fourth place. The Chicago Cubs accounted for the Pittsburghers' downfall by scores of 7 to 2, and 5 to 4.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals took two easy victories from the astute Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 6, and 9 to 2, piling up 29 hits in the two games. The New York Giants captured second place from Pittsburgh by walloping Brooklyn 5 to 2, and 8 to 6, and had additional cause for celebration when Lefty Watson, Clark pitched his first full game in the opener.

The Boston Braves also won two games, beating the Phillies, 10-4 and 5-1, but suffered a setback in the opener when Ed Brandt, star southpaw, pulled a muscle in his pitching arm and had to retire in the third inning.

PLAY GOLF

with

Seymour Dunn

Creator of Champions

One of my readers writes: "I have been trying to play golf for the past twelve years. I have taken lessons galore and have read almost every book written on the game but I still cannot break 100. I think I must be the world's champion luffer. What would you suggest to help?"

I would suggest that you seek out a competent instructor and ask him to analyze your swing. Diagnose your faults and prescribe suitable remedies.

It is most probable that there is something fundamentally wrong with the mechanics of your swing. In a case of your kind it is quite common to find that the hands are not strong enough to properly handle the club if your hands are strong enough to register not less than 75 pounds gripping pressure with each hand separately, then it is probable that you are not applying your hand strength due perhaps to applying entirely too much shoulder effort.

Then again, maybe you are not pivoting your body correctly and that consequently your head is being thrown out of place. The three most important parts of the golf swing all begin with the letter H. One—your own Head—keep it steady. Two—your Hands—get most of your power from them instead of your body. Three—the club Head—swing it, and swing it with your hands, instead of pushing the club handle through with your body. Become a club head swinger instead of a club handle pusher.

NEW ORLEANS—The national intercollegiate tennis championship at Haversford, Pa. this month will find two crack Tulane university stars entered.

They are Edward Butler and Kendall Oram, undefeated in 1934. Both are playing their third year of college tennis.

Tulane netmen won 49 singles and doubles matches in winning eight intercollegiate series. The record was one of the best ever made in southern collegiate tennis series.

As Ross Won World Title

Triple Play, Three Homers With Sacks Loaded Feature Battles In Class B League

For sheer thrills, Salem's Class B Church league is giving the major Class A circuit the closest kind of a race. Not only are teams playing a brilliant brand of ball, but the title fight is one to excite the enthusiasm of any sports fan.

Plenty of Thrills
Tuesday's game at Centennial park field uncovered really thrilling events in the minor circuit as one contest, that involving two Colubian club teams, the juniors and seniors, brought out a triple play, a double play and three home runs, each with the sacks loaded.

And, to climax the series of incidents, the junior team handed the seniors a 18-5 tremble by coming through with a sensational rally, in late frames that netted seven runs.

Joe McSweney and Dunn, of the Juniors, and Kaiser, of the Seniors, were responsible for the four-base clouds that sent in three runners ahead of them.

Baptists Triumph
First Baptists triumphed over the Emmanuel Lutherans 9 to 5 in another interesting battle. The Baptists cracked out 11 hits off the delivery of M. Linder, while Bailey, on the mound for the winners, allowed but eight hits.

The second half of the Class B loop gets under way this evening with the Holy Trinity Lutherans as defending champions. Incidentally the championship Lutheran aggregation will meet the United Cigars in a benefit fracas at Centennial park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Here are standings for the first round and box scores of Tuesday's frays:

M'NAMEE HURLS MULLINS TEAM TO 8-1 VICTORY

Home Run by M. Schuller Robs Foremen Hurler of Shutout Triumph

Coming within a shade of twirling a shutout victory Earl McNamee, ace pitcher for the Mullins Foremen's club, held the American Legion to three hits and speedballed his team to an easy 8 to 1 win in a Class A league battle at Centennial park Tuesday.

A home run by M. Schuller in the final inning robbed the Mullins slabster of a shutout triumph as his team cloaked offerings of Harold England for five runs in three frames then continued its attack on Sam Watkins in late innings. Brilliant fielding of Brown, Legion shortstop, was one of the bright spots of the game.

Hardware Triumphs
The rejuvenated Salem Hardware team showed still greater improvement as it slapped out an impressive 9-4 decision over the Salem China team in Tuesday's second game.

Nine potery errors hurt Frank Theriault's chances of pitching his team to a win over the Hardware. Theriault was opposed by Clifford Greenstein who held the Pottery to four bingles.

Averages More Than 104 Miles An Hour To Set New Record

(By Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—On the sun-scorched bricks of the Indianapolis motor speedway, Wild Bill Cummings has achieved the victory he decided on 29 years ago. As 135,000 spectators fanned past the 28-year-old driver, he won the annual 500-mile race at the record breaking average of 104.863 miles an hour, and collect about $40,000 in prizes and awards.

Cummings won by just 37 seconds from Mauri Rose, of Dayton, O., who chased him for the last 50 miles to the closest, most sensational ending in the 22 years history of the track.

Both Break Record.
Cummings' time was 4:46:05.20. The Indianapolis youngster and Rose both smashed the former speed mark of 104.162 miles an hour, set by Louis Meyer, of South Gate, Cal., in 1933.

Thus did the daring veterans of the speedway defeat the plans of race officials who sought to place a clamp on the excessive speed by limiting gasoline allotment to 45 gallons for each little racing car. Not one of the 20 cars forced out of the running failed because of too heavy fuel consumption.

Stewards of the race will consider today an official protest made by Leon Dury, of Los Angeles, owner of the car driven by Rose. Dury contended Cummings violated rules and gained about three-fourths of a lap during the period when the drivers were slowed down for removal of wreckage from the course.

Three Minor Smashups.
The smashups, three in number, were all of minor character. The most serious injury was a broken wrist sustained by George Bailey, of Detroit, when his car bounced over a wall at the North end of the track.

Other prize winners finished in the following order:
Lou Moore, Los Angeles.
A. B. Deacon, Litz, Dubois, Pa.
Joe Russo, Kenosha, Wis.
Al Miller, Detroit.
Cliff Berger, Los Angeles.
Russell Snowberger, Philadelphia.

AKRON POLOISTS BEAT SALEM, 10-6

500 Spectators Witness Thrilling Match At Academy Field

A throng of approximately 500 spectators enthusiastically applauded performances of rival horsemen as the Shelton Grove Riding Academy polo team bowed to Akron Cavalry poloists in a thrilling encounter at the Academy field on the Salem-Lisbon rd. Wednesday.

It was the second polo game ever played in this vicinity. The first, played last Sunday, involved the same rivals with Salem triumphing by a 7 to 6 margin.

Coming back with a vengeance, the invading Akron team played brilliantly to subdue the Salem academy outfit by a 10-6 score in yesterday's fracas.

Despite the clear advantage held by the invaders, the Salem team put up a hard battle and forced the more experienced Akronites to the limit.

PEACE KEYNOTE AT RITES HERE

Annual Memorial Services Held At Two Cemeteries

such an occasion mere words are meaningless and a desecration. It is only in devout silent contemplation that we can grasp the true significance of this day.

"We as patriotic citizens do well to pause once a year to decorate the graves of those who offered up their lives upon the altars of liberty for the sake of our beloved America.

"This day is dedicated to all of America's soldier sons, but has a particular significance for the boys in blue, who from 1861 to 1865 fought and died in the name of Unity, Freedom and Righteousness.

Honor the Living, Too
"Memorial day is set aside primarily to honor our soldier dead. But we must also honor our soldier living, so on this day those of you who have survived the war and the ravages of the years occupy the first place in our thoughts and hearts and this day is yours.

"Memorial day has a meaning somewhat different from that which it had a few decades ago. Its significance has been widened. To be sure it is sanctified for the boys in blue who valiantly went forth to save the Union. But now it also brings before us the deeds of those who were in the Spanish-American war and in the European conflict.

"All of the wars in which America has been involved have been in the name of Freedom.

"I have learned elsewhere that as we travel along life's road we learn many lessons and one of these is Fidelity. The chief glory in the crown of manhood is Fidelity and the brightest jewel in the diadem of a monarch is Fidelity. Without Fidelity between man and man the entire social structure of the world would fall in ruin and become utter chaos. All these soldier dead have been faithful to every trust, faithful to themselves and the best there was in them, faithful to their country and to their God. May we as peace time citizens emulate their war time conduct."

A Nation of Good Forgetters

"Our Forgotten Dead" was the theme used by Rev. Westphal, pastor of the Baptist church, for his address at Hope cemetery. The exercises were sponsored by Philip Triem Camp No. 43, Sons of Union Veterans, and allied orders.

"Living loved ones do not forget dead loved ones, but a living nation may forget its dead heroes," Rev. Westphal said.

"Events that turn the tide of nations come, leave a print upon the minds of the beneficiaries and then the memory of them flits lightly away with the passing of the generation, to be recalled by the force of special occasions, festivities, celebrations, speeches, funerals, parades, etc.

"After every war the innocent forgetfulness of a nation has been demonstrated. When the guns no longer peal forth their wicked barks, and the uniformed heroes return, leaving behind them a trail of fallen comrades, the nation that is quick to declare war and to transport fighting freight to the fields of blood, is just as quick to forget.

The Crowd Rushes By.
"Two years after the Armistice of the World war was signed, at the 11 o'clock hour, when the nation was asked to stand in silence for a moment, while the whistles blew and the bells rang, I stood in the city of Chicago at the side of a uniformed soldier who was blind, paralyzed and otherwise injured, one who had paid with a full measure of devotion, and the mad hectic crowd rushed by without a sign of respect—with but faded memories and trampled emotions, fettered by the fear of expression, publicly declaring that they had forgotten their heroes.

"No wonder the peace time military organizations immediately got busy to institute in our calendar 'Forget-Me-Not Day.' Previous wars have seen the same thoughtlessness of a nation of good forgetters.

"We call you to glory in this day, as you stand in reverence and meditate in silence around these aged mounds that hold the sacred dust of the soldier dead."

Vina Delmar's "Sadie McKee", Now at State, Boasts Cast of Stellar Names

JOAN CRAWFORD brings Vina Delmar's "Sadie McKee" to life on the screen. The star is most convincing as Sadie, daughter of a cook in the home of a wealthy man whose son loves the girl. The problem struggles and subsequent triumphs of a small town girl alone in a great city are giving credence by the splendid work of the star. The story is an old one to be sure, but Miss Crawford gives the role of Sadie McKee a naturalness and living tone.

Edward Arnold Scores

The screen's "dancing daughter" is given an unusually good supporting cast. There are Franchot Tone, Gene Raymond, Esther Ralston and Josh Dixon, all shining in their parts as friends and lovers of the star. And then there is Edward Arnold as the wealthy man whose one failing to an otherwise kind nature is drink. Arnold, who up to this time has played gangster roles, plays a new type in this production and his work as Brennan, the man Sadie marries, is considered among the top-notch performances of the season.

The Delmar story is a vivid tale of a regular American girl, a girl one might see every day. Sadie is the daughter of a cook in the home of Michael's father, Michael is a lawyer and in love with Sadie whose great heart and loyal soul is only for Tommy, a lad with habits not to be trusted. Tommy is freed from Michael's home largely because the latter believes him guilty of thievery. Sadie hates Michael with all her heart for that act and resolves she will get even if it is the last thing in her life. She and Tommy run away to New York to be married—but the boy meets Dolly, a singer who is hunting a new face for her act, and leaves with her. Sadie is stranded in the city with little money and a broken heart.

Sadie Is Married

Finally she gets a job in a cabaret and meets Brennan who, though drunk, wants to marry her. Michael, lawyer for the wealthy man, believes Sadie is trying to trick the fellow and tries to make him understand. But they are married and Sadie proves her worth by saving the man's life when all others, including Michael, believe it hopeless. Brennan survives the girl and when she hears that Tommy is sick and needs her she finds it hard to tell the man who befriended her. Tommy has repented but is very ill and Sadie goes to the sanitarium realizing she has found the only man she had ever loved, too late. Michael, loyal and sincere since he believed he has been the reason for the girl's unhappiness, proves his friendship by helping Sadie realize there is still lots more in life for her.

Westinghouse Electric Refrigerators

Were Ordered for Use in United States Army Posts

THE WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY WAS IN COMPETITION FOR THIS BUSINESS WITH SEVERAL OTHER COMPANIES

The award was based on an evaluation formula calculated over a period of ten years and includes such factors as original cost of the refrigerator, installation cost, current consumption over ten years (both for cooling of the box and for freezing ice) and interest on the investment for ten years, the boxes being depreciated over that time.

THE WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY CALCULATED FROM THE PROPOSALS MADE BY THE VARIOUS MANUFACTURERS THE CURRENT CONSUMPTION OVER A TEN-YEAR PERIOD, AND FOUND THAT THE WESTINGHOUSE REFRIGERATOR USED 25 TO 57 PER CENT LESS THAN COMPETING MAKES.

THE WESTINGHOUSE REFRIGERATOR BASED ON CURRENT COST ALONE IS WORTH FROM $60.00 TO $137.00 MORE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE, IF ALL WERE IN USE TEN YEARS.

When you consider that some of the others will need replacing long before ten years, and that they will entail considerable more cost for service, and that they lack many of the Westinghouse convenient features, then you can appreciate how the Westinghouse stands out in actual value.
